KNOCKS THE SENATE
MORE THAN HE HAS

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 12.—Been reading Mr. Coolidge's article, to tell about me knocking senate.

Why, he started in re I finish. Said his prestige would not allow him being a senator. That when he was elected governor twelve years ago, he stepped over their heads. And he certainly wasn't going to go backwards.

When those guys hear that a governor is higher than a senator, I want to hear 'em houl.

Mrs. Gann can't be accused of being the only one that brings up social precedence. Calvin is trying to uphold his place at the table, too. I'd like to see some hostess try and seat the governor of Utah above Borah! Wow!

Yours,
WILL.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Aviation enthusiasts are getting busy. Pa New saw some plane soaring from the airport west of the city last night.

Traffic conditions are already becoming unusually heavy on the highways in this district. Cars from many states are already appearing on the streets here. Sunday will draw thousands to the highways, so if you are driving, look out for safety.

New signs warning motorists that one hour parking rules prevail on some of the downtown streets have been erected.

Yesterday was a real summer day, and today bids fair to make a similar record. At 9 o'clock last night the thermometer on the News building registered about 72.

With his own eyes, Pa New saw a young man driving his car, near New Castle, and wearing a bathing suit. Perhaps the young man has just arrived home from Miami and hasn't had time to change!

Speaking of grass fires, persons at the Harbor, Friday evening, witnessed a spectacular sight. A large plot of ground, acres and acres, had been burned. When Pa New happened by the fire was blazing furiously around the burnt field. The sight resembled one of these hoops of fire used in circus stunts.

Tomorrow is Palm Sunday.

Orville Hoover, of Edison avenue, remarked to Pa New that he saw a large blacksnake, three turtles, and number of song birds, near here Friday afternoon.

One week from today is Patriot's day. It was the 19th of April that the battle of Lexington was fought, 160 years ago.

But that gas station owners appreciate days when weather is good. Plenty of tanks are being filled up today.

Say, the ink at the local postoffice isn't at all bad. It has completely recovered from any anemia or other weakness of which it has been accused. Saw a man filling his trusty fountain pen, in the post-office lobby, this morning.

There are some people who have lived here all their lives and yet haven't even noticed that the court house clock gives a loud dong, every hour or it is half hour?

Several people could be seen on the streets, Friday afternoon, wearing fur coats! About time for the fur coats to be chucked or shaved, or something.

Pa New never thought of coal mines as decorative things, but there is one between New Castle and New Bedford which is certainly all dressed up. The mine is painted white and a crane, beside it, is a crane of the brightest red hue.

The hot weather of the past few days has certainly brought the buds along. Many shrubs and trees are shooting out sprouts, and the grass on lawns will soon have to be cut.

Pa New had one of the old, large sized dollar bills this morning. They certainly seem huge, in comparison to the newer bills. The old currency is fast going out of circulation. If

SUSPECTED RUM RUNNER SHOTS FEDERAL OFFICER IN NATIONAL CAPITAL

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, April 12.—Federal Prohibition Agent Lamar Watson, 36, who came here as a boy from Nashville, Tenn., was killed early today by a Negro he had arrested as a suspected rum runner. The Negro and a companion escaped.

York had trailed the pair, who stopped their automobile and alighted. He arrested them single handed and was taking them to the police station when they broke away.

Instead of giving chase, York jumped to the side of the abandoned car and blasted the horn to attract attention. One Negro turned back, as the police reconstruct the shooting, and

President Hoover Satisfied With New Treaty For Naval Disarmament

WASHINGTON, April 12.

The three-power naval limitation treaty evolved at London after so many weeks of prodigious effort will not meet with serious opposition in the senate, it appeared today.

There will be considerable criticism that the conference failed to achieve some of its major objectives, notably a five-power agreement and the degree of reduction anticipated after the Hoover-McDonald conferences here in October, but the absence of any political involvement accompanying the naval treaty is expected to make the whole thing more palatable to the senate.

Auto Salesman Found Murdered

Chicago Automobile Salesman Found Slain—Hunt For Man Victim Took For Ride

AUTO WRECKED BY HITTING TREES

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 12.—Convinced that Edward J. Wolf, an automobile salesman, was slain by a man who posed as a customer to gain possession of Wolf's car, police today waged a relentless search for an unidentified man whom Wolf took for a demonstration trip last night.

Less than an hour after the two set out from Wolf's salesroom, the smashed and battered car was found wedged between two trees. Half a block away was Wolf's body, shot through the head by a .45 calibre revolver.

The wrecked car bore evidence of a struggle between the two men. Police expressed the belief that Wolf's supposed customer had tried to take the new car from his at the point of a gun. The salesman refusing to surrender the automobile, struggled with the gunman and was shot, it was believed.

Wolf then lost control and the car swerved and crashed against the trees, the evidence showed. Wolf then leaped out and tried to flee to a nearby refreshment stand, but died on the way.

Authorities see in the murder mystery a parallel to the famous Church murder of 1921 in which Harvey Church lured two automobile salesmen, Bernard Daugherty and Carl Ausmus, to his home on a pretext of buying a car and then killed them by the automobile.

MID-WEST FEARS DAMAGE FROM ABNORMAL HEAT WAVE

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, April 12.—The danger of drought and attendant crop losses became more acute today throughout the central and southwestern states as much-needed rainfall continued to hold off in most sections.

Parched prairies in Iowa and Indiana were swept by fires which inflicted thousands of dollars damage. One fire at Solon, Ia., swept 200 acres of timberland and was brought under control only after a long battle. Timberland near Decatur, Ind., was swept by a serious fire.

The heat wave was dissipated in eastern Iowa yesterday by a thunderstorm. Rain also fell in South Dakota, but in Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas the lack of rainfall has become serious. Hot weather still persists throughout this region although the weather bureau at Kansas City has predicted relief from the abnormal heat.

Cooler weather prevailed here today following a sudden shift in wind which yesterday tumbled the mercury in the Great Lakes region 38 degrees, from a maximum of 90.2.

Central Firemen Assist In Extinguishing Blaze In Union Township

Fire of unknown origin caused damage of between $600 and $700 at the home of William Rodgers of the Covert's Station road, a mile southwest of Parktown corners, about 1:30 Friday afternoon.

Fire Chief Lynn received a call from Mr. Rodgers at 1:25, who stated that his home was afire and that he believed that with some assistance it could be saved.

The B truck and Chief Lynn responded and upon arriving at the scene found that a bucket brigade formed by neighbors had the blaze practically under control. Despite the fact that the roof of the porch had been burned off and the blaze had worked up into the attic, they had been able to carry water from a spring nearby and keep the blaze in check until the firemen arrived.

A line was laid from the booster tank on the B truck, which the neighbors kept filled with water, and the blaze was finally extinguished.

Clarence Rodgers, son of William Rodgers, the owner of the home, was burned about the hands in fighting the blaze and was given first aid treatment by Chief Lynn.

Fire Chief Lynn commended the men who had fought the blaze for their heroic work. They had placed a ladder onto the roof and chopped a hole through the roof, through which they fought the blaze.

Carry Hospital Patients Out As Building Burns Near Connellsville, Pa.

(International News Service)
CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 12.—Six patients, including two babies, were carried to safety by internes at Indian Creek hospital near here today when fire destroyed the $100,000 structure.

Fire companies from nearby towns were forced to stand by helplessly while the flames raged through the hospital, unable to use either chemical extinguishers or water to subdue the blaze.

The fire is believed to have originated in a spark generated by an electric motor in the east wing of the hospital.

So rapidly did the flames spread through the three-story frame building that clouds of smoke billowed out on all sides before the firemen could bring chemical extinguishers into play.

A mishap to a pumper truck of the fire company prevented the use of streams of water to quench the seething flames.

Witnesses Say Bus Driver Tried To Avoid Crash—Engineer Gives Statement

(International News Service)
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 12.—An official investigation was to get underway today as authorities sought to determine the exact cause of a crash between a fast Santa Fe mail train and a Pickwick motorbus yesterday which snuffed out the lives of nineteen passengers and injured nine others.

Officials of the Pickwick Greyhound line last night announced that all 27 passengers who were aboard the bus when it left Gallup, N. M., have been accounted for. Three bodies, those of an Indian and two small babies, are yet to be identified.

Fifteen Killed Outright.

The train sidetracked the motor stage at a grade crossing at Isleta, N. M., 13 miles south of here. The impact demolished the bus and the debris burst into flames as the gasoline tank burst. Fifteen passengers were killed outright.

Identification of the victims is slow, due to the fact that the company kept no passenger list. The bodies were brought to two morgues here for positive identification.

Tried To Stop.

Witnesses said the driver, F. C. Williams, who was killed instantly, tried to stop for the crossing, but the bus slid onto the track and stalled. Engineer F. C. Davis said he applied the brakes when he saw the impending crash, and was able to reduce the LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 12.—Three persons were found dead from bullet wounds today when the police battered down the doors of a house in the west end of the city, following a volley of shots.

The dead included an unidentified man, a woman and a six year old girl, apparently the third member of the family.

Hasty investigation by detectives indicated that the man, in his thirties had shot the woman and child and then turned the gun on himself.

Neighbors heard the volley of shots and notified police.

The position of the bodies substantiated the theory of murder and suicide, police said.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Federal government decided today to take a hand in the squabble resulting from attempts to promote a billion dollar merger between the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., and the Bethlehem Steel Co.

Agents of the Department of Justice have been sent to Youngstown and Bethlehem to examine the books and records of both companies. It was announced, to ascertain whether there is anything in the proposed merger which would violate the anti-trust laws.

If the investigation discloses there will be no lessening of competition in the steel industry as a result of the merger, the government will interpose no objections. If, on the other hand, it appears there will be, then the government will intercede.

The merger would affect approximately 20 per cent of the steel output in this country.

Politicians In Washington Are Keeping Awake

Shock Troops Of Politics Maneuver Into Battle Arrays

COMING PRIMARIES CAUSING CONCERN

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, April 12.—In the face of approaching primaries and the nationwide congressional elections next fall, the shock troops of politics were maneuvering today in full battle array through the halls of Congress.

With prohibition, slush funds and patronage under investigation, rival party leaders were striving for some political advantage from the present activities of Congress. They were hoping to use the developments at current legislative inquiries to win at the polls this summer and next fall. Unless some unforeseen advantage accrues to either side in the next few months, the first regular session of the Hoover Congress apparently will end in a political draw, so far as individual candidates are concerned.

The recently heated attacks on Claudius H. Huston, Republican national chairman, identifying him with a lobby organization, apparently have been matched by the revelation that John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, contributed funds to a wet election which were used to help elect wet Republicans to Congress. The Senate lobby committee has been extremely slow about filing its report on Huston and Raskob, and the opinion prevailed that one report would offset the other, with little advantage to either side.

Official Count Completed Today Gives Enon Borough Population Of 360

Enon borough, situated in the extreme southwest corner of Lawrence county, made a gain of one in their population during the past 10 years, the unofficial count just completed by Census Enumerator Jacob O. Fisher shows. The population now numbers 360.

Ten years ago the official census returns gave the borough a population of 359, while the estimate of the census bureau was 359, showing how closely the estimate tallied with the official count.

Many other districts in the county are expected to be available from a number during the early part of next week.

Near summer temperatures prevailed here yesterday. The maximum of 86 in the shade, which is some hot for this time of the year.

The warm spell of the past few days has caused trees and flowers to burst their buds. There has been a notable advance in vegetation noticeable since the early part of the week.

My! Oh! My! If we had known yesterday that it was as hot as 86 degrees we surely would have had spring fever. The spring day developed into a mid-summer one as the afternoon came on.

With good weather here and motoring conditions ideal, it behooves motorists to use caution along the highways. Several accidents with resulting injuries were the fruit of yesterday's toll in Lawrence county. Several are in hospitals. State highway patrolmen are on the job, as is shown by an arrest at two a. m. today.

With the opening of the trout season Tuesday it is anticipated that an appointment may be handed down relative to the game protectorship of Lawrence county, which became vacant when Sheriff Frank Johnson embarked on his new duties. Several are now making the examinations and it is apt that an appointment will be made and the successful candidate on the job early Tuesday morning.

Inspector Henry Dysart of the city's legal department yesterday served notice on the Pittsburgh, Butler, Harmony and New Castle railway, and also the Penn-Ohio Electric Railway Company relative to repaving of Croton avenue, Grant street and Butler avenue. There should be very little paper flying about New Castle's streets this summer. New refuse deposit boxes have been placed at almost every street corner and other principal gathering places. It is up to everyone to use them, not to litter their scrap paper about the curbs.

Motorists should not find it difficult to keep out of "No Parking" zones.

AGENTS ARE SENT TO GET FIGURES IN STEEL MERGER

Sheet & Tube stockholders' meeting late yesterday when it was announced that $57,821 shares of common stock of the Youngstown concern had been voted in favor of the proposal.

Protest 90,000 Votes. Beginning with the protesting of 90,000 votes, presumably voted in favor of the merger, which allegedly represents stock whose ownership was transferred since March 22, the anti-merger forces are prepared to attack the vote on the consolidation in a host of legal action.

Cyrus W. Eaton, Cleveland financier and leader of the forces opposing the merger, announced today that he will spend his last penny, if necessary, to defeat the consummation of the Sheet & Tube-Bethlehem consolidation.

James A. Campbell, 75-year-old veteran and chairman of the Sheet & Tube board, declared from the opposing camp that while legal obstacles may delay, "the merger certainly will be consummated."

The $57,821 votes recorded by stockholders of Sheet & Tube in favor of the merger, represents stock held as of record 1 p. m. March 22, 1930. The margin of the vote above the two-thirds majority required by law to approve the merger was 58,080.

Restraining Orders Dissolved. Announcement of the vote followed a court hearing at which Judge C. 3. Turnbaugh dissolved all restraining orders against the meeting that had been sought by the anti-merger forces.

A wild commotion resulted. This correspondent was caught by a guard while attempting to slip through a rear exit and was forced to remain inside. One New York newspaperman was carried bodily from a telephone booth by a guard.

Newspapermen stormed the platform where officials of Sheet & Tube were sitting. When informed of the situation, Newton D. Baker, chief counsel for the Youngstown concern, personally went to the doors and instructed the guards to let the newspapermen and stockholders out.

Anti-merger forces claimed that the locking of doors and the severing of telephone communications was an attempt to forestall any last minute effort to announce the result of the merger vote.

Sheet & Tube officials, however, claimed they knew of no order to shut off the auditorium and extended protest apologies to newspapermen.

Following the announcement of the merger vote, Frank Purnell, president of Sheet & Tube, issued a statement, saying:

"While, of course, I cannot speak authoritatively, I believe Sheet & Tube will continue to go ahead just about as it has in the past, except that now it will be a subsidiary of the Bethlehem Steel corporation. I can't say that all of the present officers will remain, but Bethlehem has given its word that Sheet & Tube will become a separate entity within Bethlehem, occupying the position of a subsidiary."

From the Eaton camp came the confident assertion that the merger will be defeated in the courts.

Of the 857,000 votes ascribed to the favoring the merger, at least 90,000 should, I am advised, be excluded. Eaton said, claiming that this alone is sufficient to defeat the merger.

One of the first actions of the anti-merger forces was expected to be the filing of an appeal on Judge Turnbaugh's decision, dissolving all restraining orders against the election inspectors counting the proxies. Preparations were made to file the appeal with the appellate court of this district, now sitting at Carrollton, O.

Renew Violence In Taxi Strike

Pittsburgh Has Another Outbreak In Three Month's Old Strike

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Renewed violence in Pittsburgh's three month taxi strike had started today when a cab driver, who was driving a cab driven by a strike breaking driver, attacked and beat him later drove the cab away from the scene and set it on fire.

Charles Blakely, 28, the driver was attacked by ten men who dragged him from the cab, left him lying injured in the street, and then drove the cab away later to destroy it by burning. Blakely was treated at Allegheny General hospital.

The ten men have not been found by police after an intensive search. In another disturbance, Edward McClain, 35, and J. L. Burgnaux, 35, were arrested by police who said the men attempted to run down motor-cycle patrolman James McGuire when he tried to arrest them last night. McGuire declared the men in their car were driving alongside a taxicab and cursing the driver, and that when he called to them to stop they attempted to hit him.

They were captured after a short chase during which McGuire fired a shot into the air. Strike arbitration, suggested by a committee of Pittsburgh clergymen yesterday, was today being considered by the Farmalee Transportation Co. cab owners, who announced they would make a reply to it later.

Gandhi Furnishes Parallel To America's Big Tea Party

Public Interested In Question As To Whether India's Protest Against Tax On The Poor Will Spread To Whole People

Gandhi and his followers in protesting against the salt monopoly, awake American interest in the possibility that resistance to the tax imposed may extend to all the people of India. Some see in this Oriental movement a parallel to the tax protest of Colonial days which inspired the Boston Tea Party.

"If Lord Irwin had chosen a wiser course," remarks the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE, "he would have thrown a spoke into the Gandhi plans by immediately wiping out this salt burden. His action would have been popular. It would have thrown oil on the troubled waters." That paper sees a blunder in the "decision not to arrest Mahatma Gandhi, but to jail 68 of Gandhi's followers, including two prominent members of the All India Congress and the Mahatma's son for the crime of 'making salt.' This crime," continues the Eagle, "rather resembles the throwing of British tea into Boston Harbor. It is civil disobedience based on the principle that taxation without representation is tyranny. But if something like cowardice were to be avoided, the head of the Gandhi movement, not the followers, should have been arrested. It is to be noted that this salt-monopoly measure was 'put across' as our politicians say, against the vote of every elected Indian member of the Legislative Assembly, by the fiat of the Governor General."

While agreeing that the Gandhi action "is like the tea party gesture," the SAVANNAH MORNING NEWS adds: "There is contrast between them which exhibits the contrast between the Gandhi method and the Boston method. Gandhi is not organizing raids on British salt-making, with property destruction in view; he is striking from another angle. His method is the quiet one, the appeal to the action of the sun on the salt being plainly a wonderful thought. The Boston party appealed to nothing but good right arms. Straightforwardness was its plan. Gandhi wraps his disobedience in symbolism. He knows his followers. And the British, while armed trouble may follow in India as eventually in America, will likely handle his case differently from the method it followed in America."

"We made more trouble about that," recalls the SAN BERNARDINO SUN, "than the tax in itself would have justified. It was a matter of principle. And Gandhi, in marching with thousands of his followers, was essentially in America, with the exception of the salt being a tax on the people. The British Empire did then, only more peacefully. His resistance is passive. Ours was active. It may become so in India later on."

A parallel, also, in the American colonists' protest of salt at Tons River is found by the NEW YORK EVENING NEWS, with the comment that, "as in India, the illicit production of salt was accompanied by other defiance of British rule. How much more wisely British will deal with its disobedient Indian subjects," continues the News, "probably cannot be discerned immediately. The British government has exercised restraint. It has a liberal at its head who wants to deal justly with India. He has a highly complicated problem to solve and may rightly feel that Gandhi is not beginning at the root of India's 'untouchables' who are opposing him because of his indifference to their claims for religious and civil liberty, represent Indian's greater necessity. If their agitation to break down the caste system could make headway, Britain's problem in India would be very much eased."

"Forbearance or force will be the British response to the Nationalist movement, according as its tactics are peaceful or provocative of violence," believes the FORT WAYNE NEWS-SENTINEL, as it raises the question "whether the moderate methods of constitutional agitation of the extreme measures of civil disobedience, as advocated by the more radical of the Indian leaders, will prevail."

The BALTIMORE SUN holds that "Gandhi has maneuvered the British into a tight place," and at the same time agrees that while the native leader "has the executive committee of the National Congress supporting him, he does not have behind him a completely united, single-minded nation. With his experience and astuteness he must know this. Therefore, he has contrived, by the simplest strategy, to put the game of crisis-making squarely into English hands. He has disobeyed deliberately, publicly. With that he may rest. The burden of action and consequences is now Britain's. She runs the chance of doing Gandhi's work for him—of galvanizing India into a unit. It is no wonder that in that situation she hesitates in uncertainty," concludes the Sun.

It is maintained by the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) REPUBLICAN that "British statesmen should not have given Gandhi this chance to exploit popular resentment against a government salt monopoly," recalls that "the increase of the salt tax was condemned even by the English press in India on the ground that it would weigh most heavily on the poorest of the poor." On the other hand the SEATTLE DAILY TIMES warns that "possibly Gandhi has started something he cannot stop." The RICHMOND NEWS LEADER offers the explanation of the situation: "The tax was made more hateful because money for the new government buildings at Delhi. To Gandhi and to every other thoughtful Indian it seems as if the palaces of an alien power are being built on the hunger of the people and in the leanness of their cattle."

The HAVERHILL GAZETTE remarks that "force can be met by force," but asks, "What can you do with a man who serenely turns the other cheek?" The LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL concludes: "Whether there is fighting, or whether the campaign ends in jail for the agitators, Gandhi without doubt is preparing the way for better things. He is the torchbearer, and his admirable, though vainglorious, stand is throwing light where light is needed."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

CLOTHES-ROADS-HOSPITALITY.

Harry Carr's story, as recorded by the Los Angeles Times, runs on. The caravan was at Guamachil on March 26th:

"This is a little country town near the winding Sinaloa river. The whole town has turned out with touching faith that a ne ra has come in the friendship of the gringo and the Latin. Governor Gaxiola has driven eighty miles down from Culiacan to welcome the scout party of the Automobile Club of Southern California. With him has come a staff of handsome young officers."

"The town band in shirt sleeves is tooting furiously. The patio of the country inn is filled with beautiful little señoritas waiting to be danced with. The town editor is taking enough notes to fill the Encyclopedia Britannica and the town Mayor has put on his embroidered revolver holster. Everybody wears a gun as a matter of course."

"At Guassave the town Mayor and all the townspeople had a speech-making in the Municipal Palace. At one end of the wide, tropical porch was the jail, through which an unfortunate peon peeked desolately until we slipped him a bottle of beer through the bars."

"They are building new roads and buying automobiles with all the money they can save. Even so, the ox carts still plod with squeaking wheels down the new highways. It seems significant that the new roads end at an old ruined hacienda—a wrecked casa which must have been a country place, a memento of the revolutions that have passed."

"When you get down into Mexico as far as Sinaloa, you find a new type of cowboy."

"In place of the leather chaparejos that the American cowboys wear he has a big leather sarge hanging down from both sides of his saddle pommel. It is really a forward extension of the saddle blanket. When he gets into the brush the puncher simply wraps this around his legs."

"The American type of cow saddle seems to have driven out the old-fashioned Mexican flat pommel that was used in California before the gringos brought in the steel pommel. Governor Elias of Sonora has undertaken the most remarkable road-building campaign in the history of Mexico."

"One of the most important roads will run from Nacari to Hermosillo, and thence to Guaymas. At present to get to Nacari it is necessary to (Continued On Page Five)

ADVERTISING A HOUSE

If I had a house to sell, I should count the rooms and say: Very light and bright are they, pleasant rooms in which to dwell, but my advertisement would Tell about the neighborhood.

If I had a house to sell, I should advertise the street—Of the people you would meet, I should take some space to tell. This I'd shout in black and white: 'Kindly folk live on the right.'

"On the left the Blanks reside—Better people are not known. They've three children of their own And their garden is their pride. People friendly, gracious, good. Make this happy neighborhood."

"Here the lawns are kept with care, Here the tulips bloom in spring And at Christmas carols ring. Here's a life that's good to share. These are things that I should tell If I had a house to sell." (Copyright, 1930, Edgar A. Guest)

Bible Thought For Today

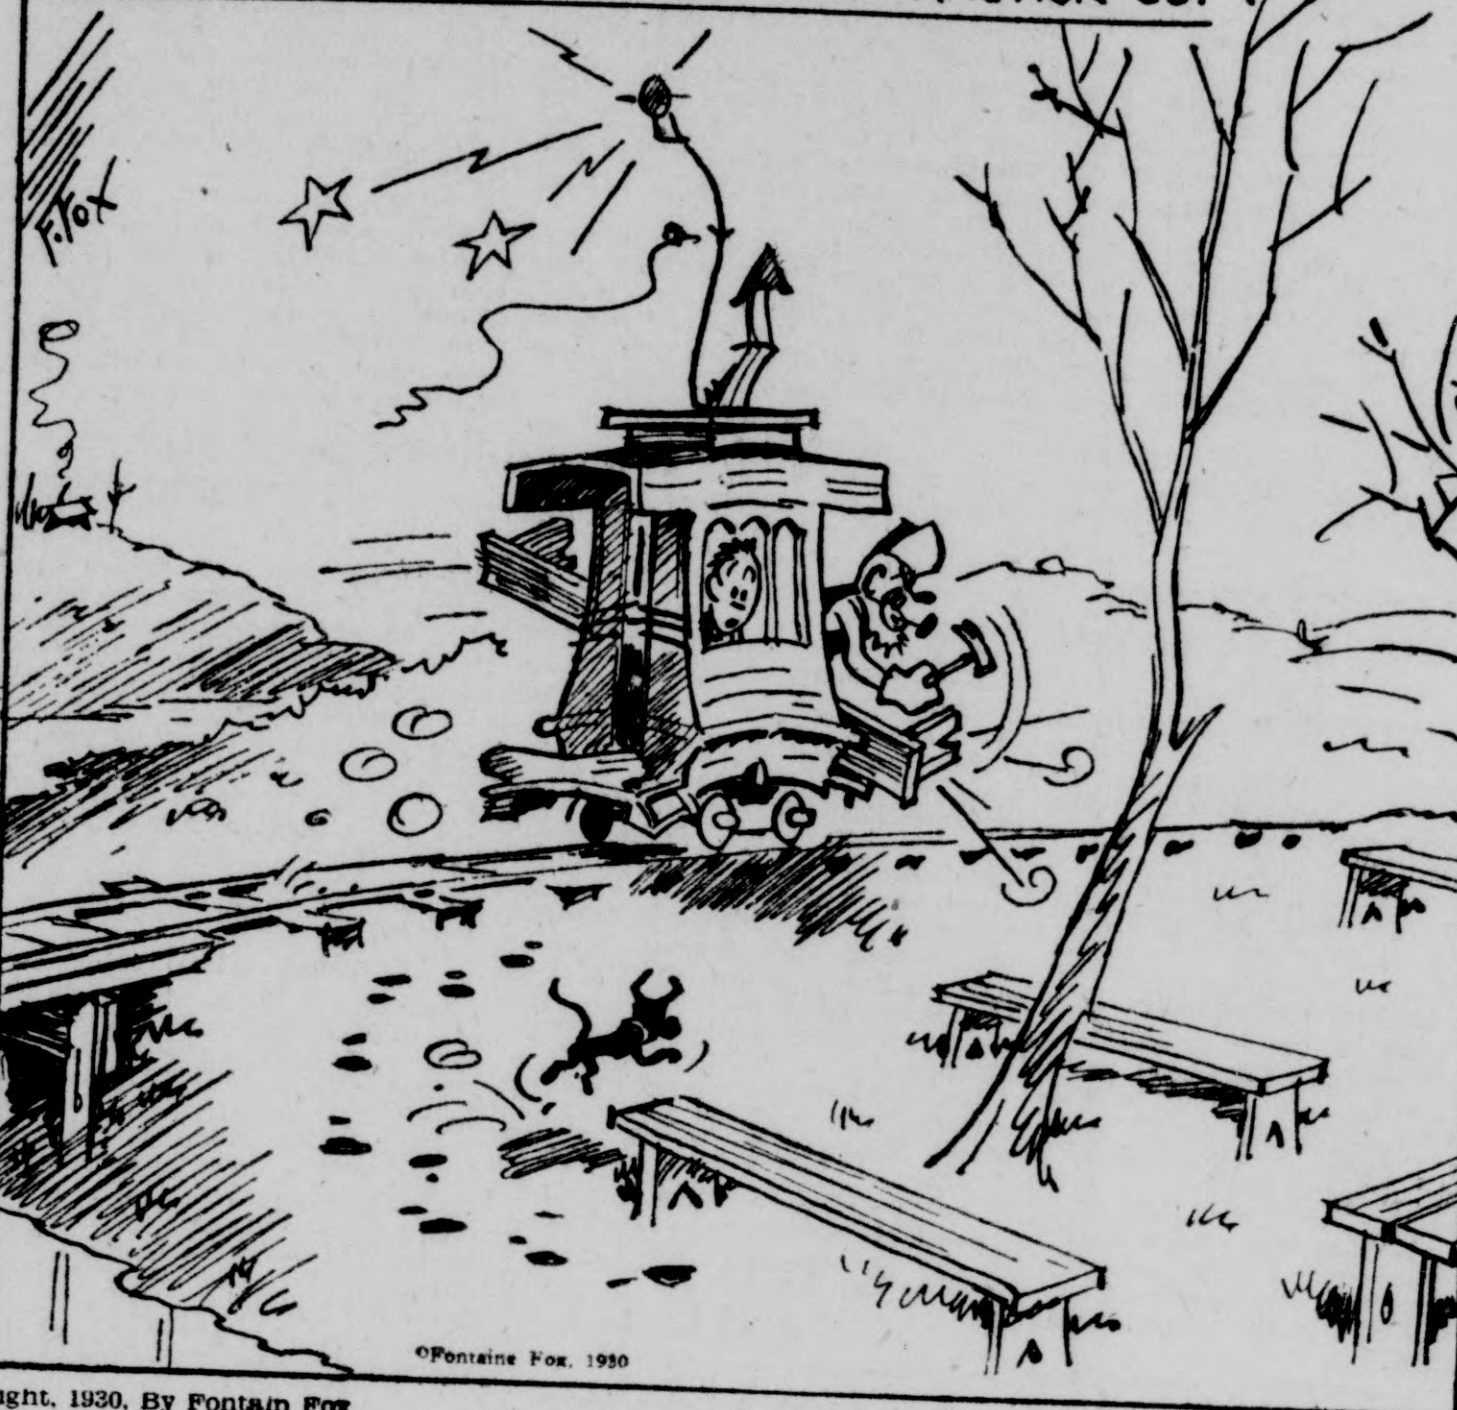

Grace Satisfies the Law—The law entered, that the offense might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound. That as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life. Jesus Christ our Lord.—Romans 5:20, 21.

Prayer: For the knowledge of sin which made us sensible of our need of Thee, O God, we can ever be thankful.

Sun sets tonight 6:37. Sun rises tomorrow 5:24.

Hatless young men seem especially silly to the old boy who thinks his age doesn't show when he has his hat on.

Put a little oil into the machine of every day living, say something pleasant now and then, then offer a word of praise, a helping hand. A smile doesn't cost you anything and laughter will keep you young.

A Chicago man flew into an awful rage because his wife would not fry eggs on the stove, save gas, just like he had seen a magician doing. This patient woman didn't even retaliate by soaking him one with the frying pan while the grease was sizzling hot.

It's only a short time until Easter. Do not forget the sick in the hospitals, or the shut-ins at home, when making a list of those to whom you will send flowers, baskets or cards.

What puzzles mere man is this: Why pay $2.98 for a pair of hose that to all intents and purposes give the impression that the wearer hasn't any hose on?

In Venezuela a motor car must have two horns. An electric for suburban and a hand operated horn for city use. In this land of ours where some boys just juggle with the horn like a child playing with a toy, one honker is considered by some people as one too many.

And whom should we meet at high noon in the rear of the cigar store . . . but Solomon J. Bookmaker . . . Sol says . . . What the average man in this country needs is a good trade in value for his last year's straw hat.

Johnny was slow. He moved something like a snail. After taking two hours to feed the canary, he asked "What shall I do now?" and his father replied, "You might take your mud turtle out for a run."

Down at Millvale, New Jersey, a policeman entered a Sunday school and arrested the cornet player for stealing chickens. It wouldn't have been so bad had it been the fellow playing the bass horn or even one of the fiddlers, and they could have spared the saxophone artist, but it was awful to grab the leader.

It appears that Jiggs will never get Maggie reconciled to corn beef and cabbage. She should have some consideration as he worships her like a heathen prince bowing down to an idol.

Eighty-two year old Ebenezer Dale of Liverpool, England got out into traffic on his bike and rode over to London, a distance of 200 miles. While no tire trouble or unusual delays are reported on his performance sheet,

A street car inspector was watching the new conductor. "Here Foley," he said, "how's this. You have ten passengers and only nine fares have been rung up?" "Is that so?" asked Foley. Then turning to his passengers he yelled: "There's wan too many on this car. Git out, wan of yez."

Child Health Day
One Cubic Inch, One Ton.
Good Fight, Ahead.

President Hoover, designating May 1 as "Child Health Day," urges parents and all others to co-operate. These are some ingredients of child health.

Fresh air and sunlight—they cost nothing. Regular hours, long and regular sleep. They cost nothing.

Eating slowly, which costs nothing, and develops teeth and jaws, avoiding adenoids and other troubles. Good, simple food, with variety, from day to day. That costs trouble, principally.

While designating a Child Health Day, the government might think of the mother's health also, and the disgraceful fact that this nation leads all others, civilized, in the number of mothers that die in child-birth, for lack of competent attention.

If a sow is about to have a litter, or a cow a calf, the government stands ready to advise and help through the agricultural department. For the expectant human mother, there is no such help.

Uranium, heaviest of all metals, is now produced for $40 a pound. Some of it was shown to chemists at Atlanta. The present price is low. Recently the stuff was priceless.

It weighs twice as much as lead, but, cosmetically considered, that is not heavy. Learn from science that the substance of certain stars, because of terrific gravity and compression, weighs 2,000 pounds to the cubic inch. Imagine the outer joint of your thumb weighing a ton!

The sun's radiation, heat and power are supposed to come from the "stripping of atoms." The electrons, revolving around the nuclei, are stripped off and shot into space. The nuclei, left alone, are packed one against another, with no space separating them from their electrons and from each other. It is as though you stripped away the planets from suns in space and packed the suns solidly together in a lump. That would be heavy.

An electron, in proportion to its size, is as far from its central nucleus as the sun is from the earth. Each atom is a little solar system, so small you do not notice a million of those systems in the corner of your eye. Our universe is really too complicated, at least for our feeble minds.

Mrs. Ruth McCormick returns to her work in Washington, having beaten by more than 200,000 votes Mr. Deneen, who beat her husband, the late Medill McCormick, for senator, six years ago.

If Medill McCormick, now in Heaven, knows about that, he is well pleased with his energetic widow.

Soon Mrs. McCormick will run against James Hamilton Lewis, able and dignified statesman of the old school.

Her husband beat James Hamilton Lewis, when he, Medill McCormick, was elected senator.

That coming election will be interesting. Mrs. McCormick could not say anything against Mr. Lewis, and Mr. Lewis, twice as chivalrous as Bayard, would not say anything against Mrs. McCormick, if he could, and he could not.

It will have to be a prohibition fight. Mrs. McCormick is dry, and unlike some statesmen, she is dry inside AND OUT. She votes and lives dry. Mr. Lewis is a wet. "The American citizen should not be deprived of his personal freedom, sir."

Mrs. McCormick will say, "Vote for me, and I shall keep you out of the World Court and keep you dry."

Mr. Lewis will say, "Elect me, and I'll keep you out of the World Court, as a matter of course, and I'll give you back your foaming beer."

OUR ABILITY TO GIVE—

Happiness to others is an index of our ability to be happy. Advice is not always a measure of our willingness to take it.

Attention to detail is a proof of self-discipline. Accurate replies is an evidence of a well ordered mind. Others the benefit of the doubt is a mark of true gentility. Help without condescension is the trademark of true friendship. Service in return for wages is the beginning of character.

Consider: how cheap your autos are! how much easier they make it to get hit on a grade crossing! it sure does look downright foolish for people to try to beat a car or train over a crossin' while afoot!

HEALTH EPIDEMIC

HEALTH COMMISSIONER WYNNE of New York City gives out some statistics about the metropolis. Every day in that city between 125,000 and 200,000 persons are sick in bed, about 70,000 a year die, and the population spends $150,000,000 a year on treatment.

That sounds bad, but there is another side to the picture. The 200 hospitals and clinics of the city right now are only about 60 or 70 per cent full, because the community is enjoying a period of better general health. Nurses last year worked only an average of eight months apiece and doctors had more time to give to keeping people well because they had less sickness to take care of.

"A baby born in New York now," says the commissioner, "can expect to live 46 years, whereas in 1920 he could expect to live only 41 years."

An epidemic of good health is something for a community to brag about. It is more important than large numerical growth, the thing that is on many citizens' minds just now.

BASEBALL

The first robin comes as he pleases and not according to schedule. The crocus and the dogwood, the pussywillows and the cowslips wait for the warming sunshine of many days before assuring a waiting world that spring is here. But the baseball boys of the major leagues come back on time—the second Wednesday of April—and next week comes—the big day.

The country comes out of its hibernation and surveys with an appraising eye the signs and portents. The country adopts for the season a new language, strange to the eyes and ears of the uninitiated, but eloquent and euphonious to the knowing. The school boys begin again to calculate in percentage and the dullest make themselves proficient. There are disputations without end or decision about the relative merits of teams and players. Babe Ruth reigns again in the hearts and minds of the young generation.

But that is all on the academic side. Practically, the day means the ushering in of the season out of doors of American youth, and there comes again to the seething surface the zest, the enthusiasms, the hopes, the faith of the boy and the youth in his own prowess. It's a great day!

INTERDEPENDENCE

There isn't any such thing as a localized industry or financial calamity. Hit one spot hard and workers on the other side of the world may be directly affected, just as the knees of a boxer feel the jolt of a blow on the jaw.

Last fall's stock market crash in the United States closed diamond mines in South Africa, curtailed production of European factories building high-priced automobiles, closed English cotton mills, hurt the jewelry and hotel business in Europe and girdled the globe with its blighting effect.

England's campaign against exportation of her treasures and ancient landmarks was temporarily aided by the Wall Street disaster, there having been few sales of costly paintings and manuscripts since those fateful October days.

That crash had more to do with our own business depression than is usually admitted, for few realized the extent to which the inflated securities values were maintaining high industrial production and, therefore, employment. Moreover, stock market losses wiped out the operating resources of any a manufacturer.

The interdependence of business is no less than the interdependence of nations. When one prospers others prosper, and losses of one section are registered thousands of miles in corresponding losses.

MEASURING ACHIEVEMENT AT LONDON PARLEY

It would be folly to suggest that a three-power naval agreement or a political five-power agreement at London is a satisfactory conclusion to the high hope and purpose that was aroused throughout the world in the past year of preparation and negotiation. But it would be a greater folly to condemn the attainments of the conference, which now seem clearly in sight, as failures and shams erected to mask the collapse of diplomatic effort to strengthen the structure of preparedness for peace, as well as war.

Whether we shall have a series of treaties at London, some of which are signed by three nations and others by all five naval powers or a single treaty on certain sections of which France and Italy will withhold their firmats, may now seem a detail of window dressing; but it is a most important detail, for it has to do with the spirit behind this treaty making. That may be greater than the substance when the measure of results is taken six years from now.

The United States, the British Empire and Japan have most certainly swept the field between them clean of petty differences and smouldering enmities which offered the threat of trouble. Few citizens of the United States are disposed to excite themselves today over the question of a few thousand tons more or less of ships or a few guns more or less as the difference in parity between the British and United States fleets. Parity has been freely granted as the right of this nation. It will be a costly attainment. It means a very substantial naval building program in the next few years. But we had obligated ourselves to such building under the terms of the Washington treaty, and our emissaries at London have lessened those obligations.

Doubtless there will be endless debate over the cruiser and battleship parity arrangements. Yet we doubt if anyone will be able to question the advantages of the pact limiting the tonnage of submarine fleets and the pact to abolish frightfulness from submarine warfare against merchant shipping. The airplane carrier, which in 1922 was limited only for ships of more than 10,000 tons, is now to be completely limited. Destroyers are brought down to a new minimum.

What remains? The stubborn, prideful dispute over naval prestige between Italy and France. And what has been done about that? Have the conferees of the other nations helplessly left these countries to embark on a new naval building race, or the conflict that seems the inevitable climax of such an attitude? Not at all. The three predominant naval powers of the world have, in effect, issued a challenge to France and Italy which places upon them the full burden of any action which would disturb the present balance. If that were not the case the bluster and braggadocio of the French and Italian programs might have the natural effect of forcing the contenders to make good their bluff. But both countries are now likely to avoid naval enterprises which would be provocative to the other.

Much, it may be seen, depends upon the psychology rather than the substance of the naval treaties now being drafted. It will be time to deal specifically with the substance when it has been refined from the drafts now being prepared.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE TOWN DOCTOR

"DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

SPRING HAS COME!

This is the time of year when most people get the urge to spruce up. Go into 'most any store and you will see people buying all sorts of things to make their surroundings look better—yard and garden tools, seeds of all descriptions, paint and lacquers, wall paper and porch furniture—everything to clean up and brighten up.

The ladies are talking house cleaning. The men who are not talking and thinking gardens are anxiously watching to see how the green and fairways are coming along, and everywhere there seems to be a sort of taking-on of a new lease on life.

The papers are carrying column after column of copy on "Clean-up Campaigns." Yard and garden contests will be started, and on every hand there will be a freshness, light-heartedness and general good-will; for "Spring has come."

That's fine for everybody, business included. Too bad we don't have spring more often; but then if we did it would be like a lot of other things—we would get used to it, and always that which we get used to, we fail to appreciate.

The clean-up campaigns of many communities always remind me of a little boy taking a bath—he misses so many places. And a town is just as clean, just as attractive, as the places that are left dirty.

There are six places that most towns overlook in their cleaning—each of which costs thousands of dollars in business, and at the same time lowers the morale of it's people, which is equally costly.

One of these is the highway entrances to the town, which are to the community what the doorway and show windows are to a store. Every strange motor car that enters New Castle has a cash business value of $5.20, and it takes only one car a minute each way during the traveling hours of the day to make this traffic as valuable to your community as a factory with a payroll of two million dollars annually. There are those who will refuse to believe this, but it is a fact nevertheless, and easily proved.

The first impression is often the lasting one, therefore it is nothing more than good business to see to it that the highway entrances are cleaned up and KEPT clean. Go out on your highways and look at the entrances to your city. If you see a lot of unpainted, dilapidated, cheap-looking road signs scattered all along the road, make a list of them. Then write, telephone or go see those whose signs they are and ask them to either fix them up—or, better yet, eliminate them entirely.

Billboards and road signs are proper enough, I suppose, in their place; but they have no right to stand where they will spoil and clutter up an otherwise beautiful roadside, and certainly they have no right where they will detract from the business of a community.

If there are any old tumble-down shacks, open city dumps, junk yards or other abominations, go to the proper authorities, call them up, write them a letter, and keep it up until they do something about it. Such things not only drive business away from a community, but actually cast a reflection on you, your family and your business. You do not have to tolerate such things, but it's up to you. If you stand for it, you have no one but yourself to blame.

While out on the highways look to see if there are any "Welcome" signs. Welcome signs are all right if the community lives up to what they say, but very often the opposite is the case. It is better to have no sign at all than to say to people who enter your community "Welcome to New Castle," and then have them get a cold shoulder.

I know a town that spent several thousand dollars erecting beautiful arches with electric sign reading "Blankville is a friendly town," and you couldn't get a pleasant smile in the town if you paid for it. Welcome signs that don't mean what they say had better be taken down if the community can not be held on the idea of really extending a cordial welcome.

See to it that your highway entrances are cleaned up—you don't have to take a pick and shovel and do the work yourself, unless you personally are responsible. Use your influence—public opinion can get anything done. Create public opinion to SELL New Castle to the people who travel by motor.

go to Nogales; through the United States to Douglas and down the railroad line. The Governor's new road will be tough going, but will save something over 150 miles. It will tap the richest copper mines in the world and is expected to bring back the old port of Guaymas to life.

'Northern Mexico is filled with fascinating buried-treasure stories. Governor Elias told me about a tremendously rich mine near the Border that has been lost.

"When the Spaniards were driven out of Mexico by the revolt there were many rich mines that had been in operation for centuries by Spanish families. In leaving them the Spaniards plugged them up and concealed the entrances so skillfully that very few of them have ever been found.

"In the case of this particular mine they have found the old ore dump, indicating a rich run of silver and gold. Little by little through the years this ore has been carried away by travelers; but no one has ever been able to find the mine from which it came.

"The greatest source of Northern Mexico as a tourist attraction is good hotels. The two best ones on the coast are Mazatlan and Los Mochis. The rest are pretty bad.

"It is more the way they are run than the lack of good buildings. When an American traveler misses a clerk who knows everything from the time the mail goes out to the best way to get a spot off a dress vest. As a usual thing the clerk in a Mexican hotel isn't there.

"It must be admitted that they are clean. In some of the hotels at which I have stopped they could clean the pillows with nail polish. Should you attempt to make yourself more comfortable during the night by punching the pillow, you would break your wrist.

"The hospitality of Mexico is much like the hospitality of the old days in California. They overwhelm you with kindness.

"You could stop at the hut of the humblest peon, eat him out of house and home; sleep in his bed and he would be insulted to the point of murder if you offered him pay.

"Until he gets into a labor union that he ceases to be sweet and ingratiating."

one looks upon the lake, good citizens will muse at length on those propositions.

A San Diego census enumerator sheds light on prohibition in this state.

"Madame," he asked, "what is your husband's business?"

"He's a bootlegger," replied the lady, "and I tell you, he's doing fine. Is he employed at present?"

"I should say he is. He drove a truckload of wine to Los Angeles this morning."

"I'll put him down as a drunk salesman," said the tactful enumerator.

There is no employment problem among bootleggers.

The District of Columbia Supreme Court decides that the administration's oil conservation program, is illegal, presumably, because it is based on conversations and agreements among big producers.

How else could conservation be accomplished? Why not make it a felony for two American business men to speak to each other?

Secretary Wilbur believes that conservation will win, and it ought to win, before the highest court. Squandering of the country's oil resources is criminal foolishness. And forbidding Americans to engage in business on a really big basis, while permitting foreigners operating here to do as they please, is business foolishness. You don't find that foolishness in Britain.

Attorney General Mitchell asks the Supreme Court to rule that ordering bootleg liquor delivered at your home is illegal.

Judges have decided that ordering, buying and causing transportation of liquor is no crime. They would not so decide if you ordered a fence to deliver stolen goods at your house.

The fact is that many judges, like others, when it comes to the point, refuse to take prohibition seriously.

Johnson Bill Drawing Fire

House Prepares To Wage Legislative Battle For Showdown On Johnson Bill

WOULD INCREASE PAY FOR VETERANS

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 12. — The House today prepared for its biggest legislative battle of the year when leaders promised an early showdown on the Johnson bill to add $100,000,000 a year to the compensation paid World War veterans.

Party lines already have been broken in the controversy over the measure, which is declared by its backers to be the only substitute for a pension system and denounced by its opponents as a denial of fair treatment to World War veterans.

Recognizing the bitterness of the fight over the bill, house leaders have decided to allow four days of debate, with consideration of amendments expected to require two more days. The bill is scheduled to be taken up next week.

The outstanding feature of the measure, sponsored by Rep. Johnson (R) of South Dakota, chairman of the World War veterans committee, is that compensation shall be paid every veteran suffering a 10 per cent disability before January 1, 1925, unless there is clear evidence the disability had no connection with war service.

By this one provision, it is claimed by backers of the measure, the red tape of the Veterans Bureau is slashed, and the way is opened for thousands of veterans to obtain compensation for ills due to the war.

Under existing law this presumption now applies to chronic or constitutional diseases, including tuberculosis.

GROVE CITY, April 12.—One of the most successful affairs of its kind was held last evening in the First Presbyterian church when several hundred farmers through this section attended the annual Farmers Dinner as guests of the Commercial club.

C. G. Forquer presided over the meeting as toastmaster and called on Dr. Weir Ketter of the Grove City college to give the address of welcome. John A. Glenn gave response to the greeting.

Mr. Schilling address was confined chiefly to agriculture problems facing the country today. Peter's Adventures

A TRICK WORTH KNOWING

The elder Dragon-Fly often said more than his prayers, but the younger flyer did not know it. Peter's particular friend made a motion as though he were about to rush upon the fallen flyer. Young Dragon-Fly shrieked with horror. "Please don't hurt me, cousin," begged he. "I have been a very foolish insect, but I will never boast again, promise." The elder Dragon-Fly winked at Peter, who stood ready to come to the youngster's defense if it became necessary. But that wink told him he need not worry.

"Very well, young fellow, I will overlook your bad manners this time," said the elder Dragon-Fly. "But don't let me hear any bragging in the future. And to make sure you learn your lesson well, as soon as you have caught your breath I will race you. I shall win, of course. You must make up your mind to that, for I am right in insectland, and I am stronger than you are. But besides taking the conceit out of you, I can show you a trick or two that every good flyer must master, sooner or later."

Hoover Receives First 1930 Poppy

Endorses Buddy Poppy Sale
By V. F. W. Posts
Throughout The Country

When President Herbert Hoover, on March 26th at the White House, was presented with the first 1930 Buddy Poppy by a World War orphan from the V. F. W. National Home, the chief executive of the United States added his endorsement to a nationwide movement designed to "honor the dead by helping the living."

The child chosen for this distinction was little Lois June Allen, aged five, whose father served with the famous Polar Bear expeditionary forces in north Russia back in 1918. When the hand of death cast a shadow over the Allen home, shortly after the Armistice, Lois became a protégé of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S.

Funds obtained throughout the country in the Buddy Poppy sale conducted annually by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S. help maintain and develop this project. It is the only home of its kind sponsored by a veteran organization created to give care and development to every child until he or she reaches the age of maturity.

In addition to these benefits created through the annual distribution of Buddy Poppies, the proceeds make it possible for the Veterans of Foreign Wars to carry on a program of relief work among disabled and needy veterans and their dependents.

The sale of poppies also make it possible for each local post to replenish its relief fund for the ensuing year, maintain a liaison service for all veterans, set aside burial plots and provide markers and decorations for all veteran graves on Memorial Day.

THE QUESTION BOX

CENTRAL PRESS WASHINGTON BUREAU

Answers to questions of information and fact can be obtained by writing to Central Press Bureau, P. O. Box 126, Washington, D. C., and enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope, no answers will be given to marital, medical or legal questions.

Here is information for those who have been befogged concerning the matter of Germany's war debts. It was provided by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Walter E. Hope, as material with which to provide an answer for W. H. Wenz of Salem (Ore.).

The treaty of Versailles did not fix any definite sum that Germany must pay to the allies, but did charge Germany with payment of their reparations claims. The reparations commission later fixed the amount of these claims at 132,000,000,000 gold marks, or about $31,400,000,000, which was not changed until the Young plan.

Under the Dawes plan, Germany was to pay to the allies, after the first four years, a standard annuity of 2,500,000,000 gold marks, or about $595,000,000, subject to an increase by a so-called index of prosperity. The Dawes plan did not stipulate any period of time for these annuities to run, but they were intended to continue until confidence was restored, leading eventually to a final and comprehensive agreement.

The Young plan, which presumably settles the reparations question, provides that Germany shall pay to its creditors an average annuity over a period of 37 years of 1,988,800,000 reichsmarks, or about $473,000,000, and varying annuities over a period of 22 additional years.

Who Is Saving Your Money?

How many civil service employees are there in the United States and in which department is the greatest number reported?

On December 31, 1928, there were 573,107, according to the report of the Civil Service Commission. Of this number 312,971 are employees of the postoffice department. The treasury department was next with a total of 51,855 employees.

Why doesn't an exception disprove a rule instead of proving it?

We are of the opinion that it does disprove it. The statement made by Shakespeare has undoubtedly been misunderstood. The term "proves" was unquestionably used to denote "test" and if, in the process of testing, the exception proved strong enough, the rule was no longer a general statement of value, but must be qualified.

What is the extent of relief-giving in this city and county by the Salvation Army?

The answers to these and other questions on public welfare are contained in the annual service statement, just compiled by Ensign and Mrs. V. Thompson in command.

That the scope of relief-giving and social service by the Salvation Army in this district is surprisingly large and their welfare activities of considerable importance to persons in honest need, is attested by the audit. The service record, for the year ending April 1, in city and county, follows:

New York State Legislators End Session For 1930

State Senate Votes Down Bill Memorializing Congress To Call National Convention

(International News Service)
ALBANY, N. Y., April 12.—The 1930 session of the New York State Legislature ended at one o'clock this morning after a dramatic attempt to pass the Cuvillier Bill memorializing congress to call a national constitutional convention to delete the eighteenth amendment, had failed. The bill had passed the assembly 80 to 62 but in the Senate consideration was blocked by a single vote.

Foster's Weather Forecast

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Storm wave expected to cross continent during week centering on 10 will be of moderate force, move down to a little south of the central storm path, probably reaching into northern cotton belt, cause moderate precipitation to be general over the continent, probably causing light rains in southwest including western cotton and winter wheat. This storm center is expected to be followed by a northern cold wave and southern cool wave centering on 13. After center of this period of below normal temperatures will rise until center of moderate storm wave, expected to cross continent to cross continent during week centering on 19, has passed you; storm wave of 19 is expected to move down into central storm path. As wave of rising temperatures moves, down western Great Central valleys, near 14, high winds and dangerous local storms may be expected in central and southern Great Central valleys, but precipitation in this area during this period will be caused mostly by these local storms and no general rains will be expected. As before mentioned in these bulletins, precipitation on Pacific slope is expected to average about normal in south, above normal in central and north parts for the month.

A partial eclipse of the Moon occurs at Full Moon on April 13, visible generally over North America where skies are clear, as described in previous bulletin. What is termed a Central eclipse of the Sun will occur at New Moon on April 28, visible from all parts of North America; this eclipse of the Sun is calculated to be the last for fifty years whose path of total eclipse will cross North America. This will give the layman an idea of the irregularities in the movements of our so-called constant Moon. An eclipse is called Central when the shadow axis strikes any part of the Earth. On April 28, roughly speaking, the path of eclipse will cross North America near a line drawn from San Francisco to Helena, to Regina and across lower Hudson Bay; near this line, from San Francisco to Helena, eclipse will be total, as does Moon entirely covers the face of Sun. From Helena eastward, eclipse will be annular, as at no time during the eclipse will the disc of Moon entirely cover face of Sun. The farther away from this line you are located, the smaller will be the portion of Sun covered during the eclipse. Middle of eclipse of Moon occurs April 13 at 5 hours 58.2 minutes, middle of eclipse of Sun occurs April 28 at 19 hours 26 minutes 56.5 seconds, Greenwich Civil time. To adjust these times to your local standard time, count five hours earlier where Eastern, six hours earlier where Central, seven hours earlier where Mountain and eight hours earlier where Pacific Standard time is used; then, as the Moon does not recognize our standard times, to get the exact time a correction will have to be made according to how far you are located west from meridian 75, 90, 105 or 120.

High in power—moderate in weight--and therefore SUPERIOR in PERFORMANCE

An 85-horsepower engine makes the New Oakland Eight the highest powered car produced for its weight and size, only racing cars excepted. Because it develops one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight, few cars can match the New Oakland's speed, pick-up and power. This ratio of power to weight accounts for its superior performance. Furthermore, the inherent eight-cylinder smoothness of the power plant is intensified by a complete down-draft fuel system—new type cylinder heads—a short, very rigid crankshaft—and laminated steel spring and rubber engine supports. The New Oakland Eight is also very economical to own. Its gasoline mileage equals that of many sizes of comparable size. Its sound basic design assures dependability and long service. And the extreme accessibility of its parts keeps maintenance costs at the minimum. . . . Come in and see this car with smartly tailored bodies by Fisher. It will convince you that you can now own an exceptionally fine eight at a very moderate price.

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list price. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. Oakland delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.

Pennsylvanians Pay Biggest Gas Tax In Nation

Figures Shows Only One Other
State Exceeded Pennsylvania
In Gas Purchases

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of
New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C. April 12—Motorists purchasing gasoline in Pennsylvania paid a higher tax last year than did the purchasers of such motor fuel in any other state of the country, according to figures made public today by the department of agriculture.

During the year, a total of 1,047,514,175 gallons of gasoline was taxed and used by motor vehicles in the Keystone State, from which a tax revenue of $35,757,816 was collected by the State.

Although one other of the forty-eight states sold more gasoline than did Pennsylvania during the year, it did not collect so much revenue from this source. California led the country in sales, selling 1,139,736,244 gallons of motor fuel during the year, but the State collected only $34,192,067 in taxes as against $35,757,816 collected in the Keystone State.

The average tax fee per gallon of motor fuel sold in the country as a whole last year was 3.22 cents as against three cents in 1928, according to the agriculture department figures.

Stabbed Near Heart, Victim May Die

AMBRIDGE, PA., Apr. 12—A knife wound near his heart, George Chalap, 36, 285 Marshall alley, Ambbridge, is in the Valley hospital, Sewickley, as the result of a fight early in front of his store.

Alleged to have stabbed Chalap, Matt Drabla, 225 Bank street, Ambbridge, is sought by police.

Chalap and Drabla became involved in an argument and Drabla plunged the knife into the storekeeper's left side, police say. The injured man was treated by Dr. H. D. Mowry, who found that the blade entered Chalap's side just over the heart, struck a rib and was deflected downward.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

FADS
Headmaster Taft, educator of boys, and brother of the late chief justice, condemns whims and fads in education. He's against the kind of fadism that would permit each pupil to choose what subjects he will study.

"It is hard to realize," Mr. Taft says, "how far behind our secondary schools are in this country. I honestly do not think that 5 per cent of the young men and women could pass the rather easy university and college tests. As it is, a great many are admitted to some of the large universities of the west with certificates from schools that ought to be closed by law."

Coming from a man like Headmaster Taft, this is serious criticism and is not to be laughed off. If high schools are not preparing boys and girls for further education, if they are not beginning to plant in young people the life-long habit of self-education, where is the trouble? Is the fault in the school system, the teachers, or in the pupils themselves?

PAINFUL THINKING
Words come from book stores and libraries that people want more "enjoyable reading." They seem to be fed up on serious subjects. Writers who take life and their own reactions to life too seriously seem to be overworking the minds of the average readers. Well, there are still plenty of cheap books, entertaining love stories, and weird mysteries for those who have time to kill. Let us hope that those writers who do see something in life to study, to wonder at, to analyze, and to draw conclusions from, won't lay their type-writers away in discouragement.

For those who wonder about life and are not just seeking to forget dull care, this column recommends "The Human Mind." After reading this book you may decide you are a little bit crazy. That's nothing to worry about. Those of us who make that discovery will only be arriving at a conclusion that others have probably arrived at before.

HAVING TIME
When you say you haven't time to do this, that, or the other thing, just do it. When you say you don't have time to do this, that, or the other thing, just do it. When you say you don't have time to do this, that, or the other thing, just do it. When you say you don't have time to do this, that, or the other thing, just do it.

So we are with time. We can manage to get in the time we particularly want to do. Things we do not very much wish to do, we simply "haven't time" for. It isn't shortage of time from which we suffer. It's bad management of time.

DIET
Much talk and difference about diet. There is one simple rule everyone ought to be able to work out for himself. Eat what keeps you feeling well and just enough of it. Inside information ought to let you know what to eat better than outside authority.

EIGHTS

SIXES

It is natural to want the best. Public preference invariably follows the arrival of a superior product.

And there is a best. Always, there is some manufacturer unwilling to be satisfied with an average result.

In motor cars, one manufacturer who insists upon a superior product is Nash.

No manufacturer has finer facilities to produce fine cars than Nash. None lays down any more rigid standards for materials and craftsmanship. None has learned how to build with more skill and precision, or with less waste.

All this must be keenly evident to anyone who appreciates fine motor cars and who studies the Nash "400."

The Twin-Ignition Eight, the Twin-Ignition Six, and the Single Six represent three cars in three popular price fields as fine as money can build or buy, designed by an engineering staff recognized by the motor car industry as one of the most capable in the profession.

Nash Features You Should Know

Centralized chassis lubrication, built-in, automatic radiator shutters, and the world's easiest steering in every model. Adjustable front seats. Glimpses Of Nature

Our Summer Birds Visitors From Far Off Lands
By OWEN PENFIELD FOX

Walking through a beautiful wooded spot one spring morning I heard the sweet notes of a Wood Thrush, moving toward the spot to get a closer view. I saw the bird in the top most branch of a young oak. What an enchanting picture, the golden sunbeams slanting through the trees adding a touch of magic grandeur. Oh how that Wood Thrush sang, his notes like the sound of golden bells and silver flutes.

But it is here that I am about to tell you of the long and tiresome flights that are made by the song birds that visit us for a time each summer. This same Wood Thrush that sang so sweetly, came over a sky trail of hundreds of miles from the boggy Arctic tundras of the Far North.

Let us take that beautiful bird the Golden Plover, this bird winters in far off Patagonia but summers with us, and this means that twice a year it wings its way over a route of ten thousand miles.

The Night Hawk we see so often at twilight on summer evenings. We watch as he zooms and dips high up in the heavens, uttering his pent cry. The Night Hawk comes to us from the Argentine making a trip seven thousand long miles. The Night Hawk is a bird similar in looks to the Whippoorwill. It keeps its self hid in the day time but feeds entirely on insects in the air at night.

If your home is located near lakes, you may see the bird known as the Artic Tern. The Tern is a graceful water bird, and is known as the long distance traveler of the air. Making a mileage of eleven thousand miles from his winter sojourn south of Cape Horn.

Little do we think when we see that little jewel the Humming Bird whose coat of emerald gleams and glistens as the bright summer sun plays on him as he works in and out among the flowers. The Humming Bird the smallest of bird creations, wings its way across the Gulf of Mexico from Yucatan and other South American places.

Who among us have heard the rollicking songs of the Bobolink as it comes to us from the meadows in June. There would be some thing lacking in the meadow with its sparkling pool if one did not hear the song of the Bobolink. The Bobolink is a great favorite of mine, as he travels so far, wintering in South America as far south as the Argentine.

POSSE HUNTING FOR ASSAILANT NEAR BROCKWAY

One Killed And Another Wounded
In Gun Battle At Town
Near Du Bois

(International News Service)
DUBOIS, Pa., April 12.—Louis Denaria, 45, of Brockway, near here, who last night disappeared from his home following a gun battle in which Alfred Pedas, 24, was killed, and Joseph Martini, 33, was wounded, was the object of an intensive search by a posse today. Denaria is believed to be hiding in the wild country side between here and Brockway.

Police so far have been unable to determine the cause of the shooting. They learned that Denaria, dismissed recently from his position in a macaroni factory operated by the fathers of Martini and Pedas, had received Blackhand letters. The letters were postmarked with the name of a town in Ohio.

At 9 o'clock last night Martini and Pedas went to the rear of the Denaria home and summoned the man to the door. A gun battle in which nine shots were fired followed, the bullets, according to police, passing through the door from both sides.

Police were unable to learn whether Denaria was wounded as he fled without a coat shortly before they arrived.

Male Chorus Of Welsh Congregation Furnishes Song Program At Croton Church

Rev. Margaret Joshua, who is conducting a two week's revival at the Croton avenue Methodist Episcopal church, gave an inspiring talk Friday evening, especially for the men. An overflowing crowd filled the edifice and listened with rapt attention to the words as they fell from her mouth. Mrs. Joshua is a convincing, inspired preacher of the gospel and puts her messages over with vigor. Her topic Friday evening was "America's Greatest Need" and she took up various viewpoints of the present crime wave and the manner of American living, touching on the extravagance of the age, the divorce evil and the love of pleasure as being responsible for the present state of affairs, deploring the fact that the youth of the country are for the most part the perpetrators of the crime.

There was a Welsh chorus of 21 voices from the First Congregational church that took part in the service, furnishing the musical program. Their numbers were an inspiration and filled the audience with the proper devotional spirit to enjoy the message delivered.

Sunday will mark the close of these successful meetings. Mrs. Joshua choosing as her morning topic "Christian Character" and the service at 7:30 will be marked by special singing and a sermon on "No Room".

The little girl, in company with playmates, was in the back yard of the Ray Shaffer home where rubbish was burning. She passed close to the blaze and her dress caught. Her screams brought her mother, Mrs. Shaffer, and Mrs. Tod Hogue to the scene.

All three women were burned about the hands in attempting to put out the flames. The clothes were practically burned off the little girl's body.

Bo Broadway

by JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, April 12.—The roasting recently carried pictures of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gould in the costumes in which they attended a dinner dance given by the Huttons.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. at Palm Beach. Clarence Gould was known to Broadway as "Jay"—that was his name, Jay Gould. He married Flo Lewis and they had a couple of kids.

Broadway intervened and the romance went up the flue. After the divorce it was thought that Jay was going to confer his hand, and what was left of his heart, on Ethel Shutta, now a leading comedienne with Ziegfeld, and who subsequently hooked up with George Olsen, orchestra leader.

Jay went into the show "Plain Jane" and there encountered a stage-struck little lady playing the lead. Her name was Lorraine Manville, heiress to the Asbestos millions.

It was a short, hot romance, but naturally fireproof. Jay and Lorraine were married and have spent the past years on the Riviera where Lorraine is building her practical love a pretty little casino for him to play around in.

There was already one Jay Gould in society and the husband of the Asbestos heiress didn't want any confusion to ensue. One can't be too careful these days. So Jay "Asbestos" Gould changed it to Clarence.

Don't you think Clarence is a nice name?

Married Women Teachers Will Lose Positions

Union Township Not To Employ Women Teachers Who Are Married

Recent decision has been made by the school directors of Union township to employ only unmarried women teachers in the future, in keeping with similar action taken some years ago by the New Castle schools and some other districts in the county.

Several married women who have been teaching in the Union township schools for several years, will thus be automatically ousted and will not be re-elected for the coming year it is learned.

Some rural districts are still employing married teachers, County Superintendent of Schools Syling stated this morning, but for the most part, they have fallen in line with the policy of the city school administration not to employ married teachers, except in a substitute role.

This action has been taken in Union township, it is said, because a great number of single girls have made application for teaching jobs, and they will have no difficulty in filling all teaching posts with single girls.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

I was just beginning to think I could call this saleslady argument finished. Not so. Today salesladies slay me with pen and ink and the customers continue to cheer lustily.

From Chicago comes a letter, and the lady says she can't let this argument go one bit farther without contributing her "two cents worth."

"Having been on both sides of the fence," she says, "I believe I am qualified to judge, and believe me Dear Lady, all my sympathy is with the saleslady. The fortunes of war having made it necessary for both my husband and me to go to work for others, after having employed eighty clerks of our own, I was given an entirely different view of the situation."

"Many women become bored at home, call a friend and go shopping. They proceed to bear down upon the stores with no intention of buying, just to 'look around.' I am out of the same now, so please don't think this is sour grapes. They try on dresses they never could afford to buy, just to see how they'd look dressed up, and at the expense of our time and patience. And no sale, no money, as we work on commission. We spot them quickly but are told by the floor lady to stick, and if we don't sell we have to give the history of our own life and that of the customer, in explanation. We have to eat, dress, live and tip like others, and then get veritable veins and swollen feet walking up and down after customers who don't know what they want themselves. When we lose the sale we have to start in all over, full of pep, on the next customer. It's not easy.

"Our instructions are to stay with a customer. But women recent being followed and they must not be neglected when they are ready to be waited upon. As O. O. says, What to do!"

"I was thankful when I had to go to work to sell, that I had been kind and thoughtful when I was on the other side of the counter. If I have to go to work again some day, and it's possible in this crazy world, I'll scrub floors, but never sell dresses. It's the hardest game in the world.

"One Who Knows."

Now that sounds sincere and it's going to make me more thoughtful.

But the argument was about gargoyles who scare nice customers with sweet dispositions and money in their purses. There still is a customer's side of this story.

Nine Are Sure Of Assembly Jobs

No Opposition To Their Candidacy Is Found By Candidates For Re-Election

HARRISBURG, April 12.—Nine members who served their districts in the 1929 session of the General Assembly are virtually certain of re-election this year. They are unopposed for the Republican nomination and except where they have filed Democratic petitions no other candidates are in the field against them.

There are five of the nine candidates who also are unopposed for the Democratic nomination. In the other four districts the present Republican members are the only aspirants for the office on any ticket.

Two of the unopposed candidates are veterans members. Representative George W. Williams of Tioga county, has been a member since 1911. He served in the Senate during the sessions of 1907 and 1909. There are no Democratic candidates for the House in his county and Williams is the lone Republican to file a petition.

The other member with a long service record is C. J. Goodnough of Cameron county. He has been in the House since 1915 and was speaker during the 1923 session. Goodnough has filed as both a Republican and Democrat.

Other representatives who are the only candidates filing on any ticket in their district are:

North Shellenberger, Juniata county, Republican and Democrat; Joseph Ziesenheim, fourth Erie, Republican; John H. King, third Erie, Republican and Democrat; Alexander R. Wheeler, Forest county, Republican, Democrat and Prohibition; Vell B. Holcombe, Sullivan county, Republican and Democrat; Edwin P. Brown, Susquehanna county, Republican and Aaron W. Mumford, Warren county, Republican.

The Parent Problem

Play Hour For Child Is Essential

Several weeks ago I wrote a number of questions in these columns asking my readers to answer them. I have to date more than a hundred replies, from many parts of the United States. Here are some of them.

1. During the winter nights when should the child from six to 11, inclusive, come into the house from out-of-doors?

The range of answers is from four to 7:30 p. m., with most saying "when it is dark" or "when the lights go on"; five and 5:30 are named most often.

2. To the next question, "When should the child of this age go to bed?" the time varies only from seven to nine, with eight o'clock leading.

3. Home duties for children six to 11 inclusive—washing or wiping dishes, lead, with dusting next, setting the table, running errands. Keeping room, clothes and toys in order ranked high. Other duties listed were: Care of own bedroom, keeping things picked up, getting coal, going to the store, cleaning path and driveway of ice and snow, care of pets, putting things away, empty waste matter.

Some used such vague terms as light chores, small errands, simple duties, those requiring initiative, a few regular duties, light but definite duties, get things for mother and father, help an hour a day, help mother, help with what interests him. One said "none," another, "none, or when interested."

I should like to know whether these children who wash dishes do so regularly, and as their own responsibility, or whether they are told each time when to wash them or until they do so. The child who is told always when to do such jobs and, worse still, until he does them, is learning to hate work and failing to learn responsibility.

Where there are several children they and their parents are happiest if each child washes or washes and wipes the dishes all alone, by the calendar. When there is doubt about a particular child's turn, toss up a coin. Casting lots has settled or avoided many a quarrel. It must be awful for any child just to serve time and hang around "to work when wanted" and be ready always to run errands. Dusting would at first seem to be a good job for young children; it is light and easy. But it is vague and indefinite to the child. He hardly knows when he has done it well since he has no eye for dust. I have a notion it is not a good task for the average child under 12.

4. Home duties for children from 12 to 16—care of own room, washing dishes, cooking and dusting ranked foremost. A good many named several duties for the child, as "Take care of room and dishes," "doing dishes, help to get meals, cleaning, mending and patching," "bed-making, light ironing, dish washing," care of own room and helping with housework. Most seemed to provide the same duties for girls and boys. One, however, said: "Dish-washing, dusting for girls, and yard and duties suitable for boys."

Why should not the average city boy take his place beside his sister with the dishpan or the broom?

A few showed consideration of the child who has home studies and music practice. We sometimes forget that the child who faithfully performs such duties on his own accord is getting valuable training in responsibility. Certainly every child ought to have an hour or two a day which is entirely his own, for play and relaxation. Why should we expect children to run any errands which by foresight could have been avoided? Shall we annoy our children by errands because of our forgetting, carelessness and lack of our own responsibility?

..it's wise to choose a SIX!

There is one sure way to get greater value in a low-priced car today—choose a Six!

This greater value is instantly obvious when you drive a Chevrolet Six. You notice first of all its greater smoothness. In every gear and at every speed, there is a refreshing freedom from all the annoyances that are caused by vibration. There is no tremor in the steering wheel—no rattle in the floor boards—no rumble or drumming in the body.

In addition to the finer performance of its six-cylinder motor, Chevrolet gives you truly remarkable economy. Its six-cylinder smoothness saves the entire car—engine, chassis and body—from the strain and wear of vibration. This, of course, lowers the cost of maintenance and assures a longer-lasting, longer-satisfying automobile.

From the standpoint of operating expense, Chevrolet is equally economical. No automobile surpasses Chevrolet in gasoline and oil economy. No car shows a lower expense for tires. And Chevrolet service is remarkably economical—Chevrolet flat rate charges including both parts and labor are the lowest in the Automotive industry on many service and repair operations.

Because of its modern engineering, Chevrolet also assures a high re-sale value—for its entire design is just as advanced as its six-cylinder valve-in-head engine.

Chevrolet gives you fully-enclosed, weather-proof, 4-wheel brakes. It gives you a modern fuel system—with the gasoline tank mounted in the rear outside the body. It gives you four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted lengthwise in the direction of car travel. It gives you beautiful Fisher bodies built of combination hardwood-and-steel. It gives you a heavy, rigidly-braced channel-steel frame. It gives you a full ball bearing steering mechanism, an adjustable driver's seat, a Fisher VV non-glare windshield, and tilting beam headlights operated by a foot-controlled button.

Before you decide on any car in the low-price field, see and drive the Chevrolet Six. The more thoroughly you investigate, the more certain you are to conclude that it's wise to choose a Six—for value, for performance...and for economical transportation!

Market Today Is Irregular

Moderate Rallies Today Restore Part Of Ground Lost Yesterday

(International News Service)
By W. S. COUSINS
National News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, April 12.—Moderate rallies in the industrial and utility stocks at the week end restored a part of the ground lost in yesterday's unsettled session, but the market as a whole was irregular, revolving in a narrow price range. Stock sales were approximately 400,000 shares less than last Saturday, with a total of 2,114,790 shares.

A brilliant final run up in American and foreign power carried that stock to 97 3/4 for a gain of 5 1/2 points. International Tel. and Tel. was also strong at the close, with a net gain of 2 3/8 points as its final price of 74 1/2. United States Steel was under pressure most of the day and closed at 133 1/4 down 3/4.

The Public Utility stocks again demonstrated their ability to rally after having been pushed off 1 to 3 points by profit taking and professional selling. Coppers responded with higher prices to the statements of Red Metal producers, that the metal will probably not decline below 18 cents a pound. Kolster and Grunow led the cheap Radio stocks, the latter recovering 2 points at 7 3/4.

Bethlehem Steel closed a point higher, wt. 107. Anaconda copper was up 1-2 at 71 1/2. Radio up 1-4 at 59 3/8. American Can up 1-2 at 151. Consolidated Gas unchanged at 132. United Corporation down a point at 48 1/4. Fox Film down 1-8 at 43 7/8.

Bureau Aim Is To Provide Work

False Reports Are Circulating About Legion Community Effort, It Is Stated

"Report being circulated about the city that it is necessary to be a member of the American Legion, in order to get work through the American Legion Employment Bureau is untrue, without any foundation in truth and apparently done with the intent of doing injury to the work of the Bureau," said Dr. H. H. Rosenthal, commander of Perry S. Gaston Post No. 343, American Legion, when informed this morning that it was being whispered about the city that such was the case.

"Records of the Employment Bureau," concluded Dr. Rosenthal, "will prove very much to the contrary. The employment bureau is primarily for ex-service men, not members of the Legion only, but for all who saw service in the World War, Spanish American War or any other armed conflict of the United States. It was not originated for members of the Legion, but for all former service men."

"It is not necessary at all for a man to be a member of the Legion to get work through the American Legion Employment Bureau," said E. T. McKee, in charge of the office in the Greer building, "our records will show that the majority of those who have been afforded jobs through this office are not members of the Legion. They are all with a very few exceptions, former service men."

"And it is broader than that," concluded McKee in speaking to a representative of The News, "where we do not have a former service man available for a job, either by experience or by call, not former service men in any sense of the word. Our work is for the community, not merely for the Legion, which inaugurated and financed the work of this employment office."

Brown And Davis Reach Pittsburgh

Francis Shunk Brown Arrives In Pittsburgh "To Be Looked Over" He Says

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Francis Shunk Brown, Vane organization gubernatorial candidate, arrived in town today, to be followed half an hour later by his runningmate, Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, candidate for the senatorial nomination on the Republican ticket.

"I came here to be looked over," casually remarked the candidate for the governorship upon stepping off the train.

"We are trying to stop money being the first consideration in politics," he answered in reply to a query about the "slush fund" charged by Senator "Uncle Joe" Grundy before a Senate investigating committee this week. Grundy alleged campaign funds for the Philadelphia organization came from public utilities.

Brown said that his campaign seemed to be progressing well and that he intended going along on the Rooseveltian idea of being willing to put into effect any law the people wanted.

Numerous conferences with political leaders in this vicinity were to be held by Brown and Davis today, while Commissioner J. G. Armstrong indicated that the visit of the pair might result in the announcement today of a campaign chairman and an executive committee here.

Young Girl Dies Of Bullet Wounds

Young Pittsburgh Girl Shot In Head While Playing "Wild West" Dies

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, April 12.—Fatally wounded when shot in the head by an old pistol in the hands of a five-year old playmate, little Jean Frances Clinton, 6, daughter of Floyd E. Clinton, secretary-treasurer of the Pennsylvania Trust company here, was dead today.

Half a dozen of the children were playing "wild west" in the back yard of Jean's home. They had toy pistols, while Jean had none.

Suddenly she remembered that she had seen a pistol in the house and she went in and got it. It was an ancient .32 calibre type.

The children played for several minutes more and as Jean took up the role of "bandit", the gun exploded in the hands of one of her small companions and the charge lodged in her head.

Her parents were attracted by the screams of the children as Jean fell and she was rushed to the Suburban General hospital where surgeons tried for several hours to save her life but to no avail.

Due to the conditions surrounding the shooting, the body was not taken to the morgue and no autopsy was to be held, it was said today at the coroner's office.

At 5:10, Chief Lynn and Fireman Frank Robinson were called to Euclid avenue, west of Highland avenue, where a grass fire was found in progress on some vacant lots.

At 9:45, an alarm was sounded from box 24. Papers had been thrown into the furnace at the home of L. O. Rowland of 334 Shaw street, and the furnace door had been left open. There was not enough draft to carry the smoke up the chimney and it filled the house with smoke. No other damage resulted.

The Story Of American Industry
Modern Coal Mining Methods And Safeguards

Mechanical devices operated by electricity or compressed air have eliminated most of the hand labor from coal mining. Drills now bore holes into the coal seams, and light charges of explosives blow down the coal. Some mines have machines for undercutting the coal and loading it into the cars.

The powerful electric locomotive is taking the place of the mule for drawing the cars. The main passages are lighted, and the "cages" (elevators) raised and lowered by electricity. Mammoth fans force pure air from the surface down to the miners working in the lowest levels.

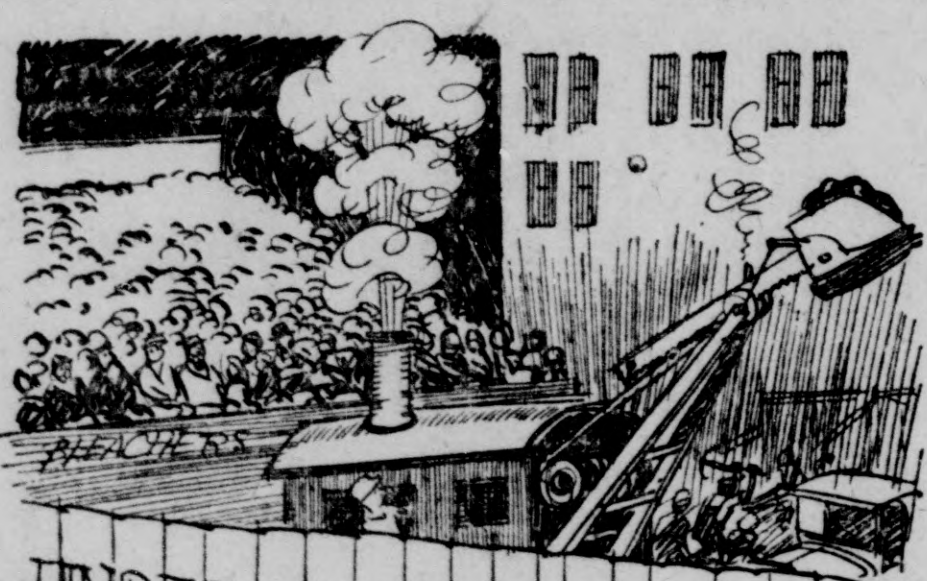

Gas-ins, the accumulation of gas, and the explosion of dry mine-dust are the chief perils that threaten the miner, and endless safety measures are necessary. Each morning, before the men descend into the mine, the passages are tested for the presence of gas. The best equipped mines have sprinkler cars to settle the dust.

Groups of miners are trained in first-aid and rescue work, to be ready for service in any emergency. In spite of all precautions, fatal accidents occur, and coal mining remains one of the most dangerous occupations.

ELLWOOD CITY, April 12.—About twenty-two scouts who are members of Troop 14 of the Methodist church, left last night for Camp Phillips where they will spend the week-end. The boys armed themselves with the customary blanket rolls and camp equipment, and started out on the several mile hike.

Scoutmaster Harold Burns went with them, and during the trip, several scout tests will be taken. They expect to return on Sunday evening.

How Hub Throws It

Tell Binkley, tornado, fire, stickup, wood alcohol an' general insurance, today refused to write a life policy for Wesley Purviance 'cause Wes is a peeler in this country today are seekin' diversion an' cemetery fillin'. I'll pass over our madnes for movies, parties, bridge an' gin an' take up the matter of automobile calamities. Last year's auto toll in killed amounted to over ten thousand, an' no one'll live ever know how many wuz crippled fer life. Ever' town an' city in the country is wrestlin' with the traffic menace. Ever' hour o' the day human life is weighed in the balance against the gain o' two minutes by some dirty cleanin' delivery truck, belated business man, or roughneck taxi driver. Safety zones, an' red an' green lights are not to be trusted, as bank an' pay roll handouts are sleazn' in all directions in high-powered cars with utter disregard fer street intersections or signals. Makin' laws an' arrestin' violators, an' automatic light signals are not doin' the work, an' it's no longer

Ellwood In Dual Meet Here Monday

Cards Ambridge For Track Inaugural At Lincoln Field
Here Monday Afternoon

ELLWOOD CITY, April 12.—Ellwood City high, winners of the Beaver Valley track championship in 1929 will open its 1930 season with a track meet Monday afternoon on the Lincoln field. They will meet Ambridge in the first dual meet ever carded here. Most of the meets in which the local school has competed, have been large interscholastic affairs, away from home. For this reason, Ellwood's material for a dual meet is practically untested, although some of the star members of the 1929 team are back again, notably Paul Mike Dunn, Bill King and Frank Gross, and Willie Justine.

Ambridge will be remembered as the school whose relay team sprang a big surprise in the Valley meet last year by beating Ellwood's crack team. This was the very event which Ellwood was most sure of winning, and the defeat although, a set back, did not prove fatal to the champion hopes of the team.

Coach Dick Bartholomew, who is credited with putting Ellwood high on the track and field map, has a likely looking squad assembled this spring. Many of his proteges will be getting their baptism of meet competition and it remains to be seen how well they will acquit themselves.

At Monday's meet Ellwood will be represented in the quarter mile by MacMurdo, Justine and Paul Kuben. In the sprints will be John Shuler, a sprinter who has shown up well in practice; Justine, Kuben, August Vesco and King, will also figure, looking after Ellwood's interests in the 100 and 220.

LADIES ENTERTAIN
ELLWOOD CITY, April 12.—Thirty-two members of the Happy Hour class of the Slippery Rock church enjoyed a meeting at the home of Mrs. Sharp Johns Friday night with Mesdames Gladys Cunningham, Carl Johns and Paul Elliott assisting.

Routine business matters were discussed, after which a program of games and contests was enjoyed and delicious refreshments concluded the meeting.

The May meeting takes place at the home of Mr. Charles Houk, 11th Mesdames Dallas Houk, William Deemer and Wm. Travis assisting on May 8.

RITICISMS

Judging by newspaper dispatches the major leagues are suffering from a compound fracture of everybody.

No less than 10 teams have staggered back north with twisted tibias, banged biceps and slightly bent penant hopes.

One manager reports in all his career he had never seen more successful spring maiming.

Anyway, it's all equal. The rookies will see the first games of the season from the bench, while the veterans will view festivities from their wheel chairs.

The only player not sick or injured is Ty Cobb, and he retired two years ago.

In other words, once more the baseball season has gotten away with a limping start.

Rains in London were so heavy this winter that some wood-pavement streets were impassable for several days.

A Hungarian has invented apparatus to transmit motion pictures either by wire or radio.

Tossing Wonders

Shades of Martin Sheridan, John Flanagan and other of Uncle Sam's immortal Olympics heroes who could leave the shot, wing the hammer, or toss the discus! Note ye what Herman Brix, Eric Krenz, Harlow Rothert and John Kuck are doing, and will do, along those athletic lines this year!

Those titanic tossers are all Pacific Coast lads—worthy successors to the remarkable Ralph Rose, whose 51-foot shot put stood as the world's record for about twenty years. Kuck broke that mark with a 52 feet 3-4 inch heave in 1923.

On March 1 last, Robert Brix and Krenz, competing together each threw the 16-pound ball further than Rose's historic record, reaching 51 feet, 8 inches; 51 feet, 4 3-4 inches, and 51 feet 1-8 inch respectively! Stanford Stadium may never be the scene of a more extraordinary field feat than that. The Cardinal collegians defeated the Los Angeles A. C. 69 1-4 to 61-3-4 in their track meet that day.

Herman "Biceps" Brix, blond Los Angeles A. C. giant, potentially is the "greatest shot-putter of all time," in the opinion of "Dink" Templeton and many other experts. Brix is facing excellent opposition this Spring which should produce in 1930 the greatest of all "Hoimans"—if not all—heavies ever recorded.

It is interesting to note the way in which that long standing Rose record of 51 feet has been treated. At least three, possibly four, shot-putters on the West Coast can better that mark nearly every heave they make. The authorities swear they use the old familiar 16-pound shot duly authenticated before and after all formal puts. That raises the question:

Is the human race producing certain trained athletes with stronger weight throwing arms than in the past? Has track and field sports—like baseball—got a "lively ball" problem in the form of a mechanically perfected shot?

ABE MARTIN On Pedestrians

The thing to do is go after the pedestrian to stop the daily slaughter. The pedestrian should walk with head erect an' revolv'n, with eyes so focused to take in the surroundin' territory fer at least one block; ears should be bored out an' uncovered; if a friend is overtaken, treat him civilly, but keep the mind on the business of gettin' where you're goin'; don't let a street parade or some unusual symmetrical girl or woman switch your mind off the business o' preservin' your life. Don't go on the theory nothin' 'll pop out of an alley. That's where the Ford fools so many of us. Don't feel secure 'cause you're on a sidewalk, fer only yesterday Mrs. Joe Kite wuz knocked down by a Ford while selectin' a mackerel in a grocery; allus waive your rights even in favor of an electric; don't ponder while walkin', that is don't bring your family or business troubles out on the street; if you should drop your watch or pocketbook while crossin' a street, don't stop to recover it, but remember ther's more where it came from. Ther's many allur'n' sights on the streets these days an' they're responsible to a great extent fer most auto fatalities fer they confuse both driver an' pedestrian. This is somethin' else fer which women are to blame. Pedestrians must git used to women an' confine ther minds to the business o' gettin' safely to wherever they're tryin' to git to. But I dare say ponderin' while crossin' a highway or downtown street causes most o' the deaths by auto, thinkin' about somethin' else except the business o' watchin' out fer our lives. An' auto drivers have almost as much trouble crossin' railroad tracks as pedestrians have crossin' Main street. The ever-growin' danger o' crossin' streets 'll finally result in one-sided towns, towns where all residences an' business houses 'll be confined to one side or the other of a wide, paved artery. Or will populations eventually dwindle to the survival of the alertest?

Well, get an eyeful of this! A complete little traveling camp outfit right at the beginning of the season.

No matter where you've been, or what you've seen, you will like this one. It's just right.

Small, light, compact, complete. Powered with a model A Ford, and you know how good those babies are. It's in the best of condition, too.

There's room and accommodations for four people, and what a party that could make. Nested dishes, folding stove, metal tables, poles, water-proof tent, camp beds with real springs and good thick mattresses, compartments for ice, food and odds and ends and complete electrical connections. What an outfit!

Best of all, it is priced for quick sale. The whole outfit goes for less than the price of a car.

Better come over to Shenango Motor Company Used Car Lot tonight and look it over. You can get some good ideas for making one of your own, too. We have most all the parts necessary, and you can buy them at less than cost. We'll be open all day tomorrow if that time suits you better, and there are at least a dozen cars that might interest you, at prices ranging from $25, $45, $75 and up to $1,500. Of course, the last aren't Fords, but we can outfit them with trailers, too. This is going to be a camping year. Better be posted now.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Industrial Stocks Drift To Slightly Lower Price Levels

By W. S. COVINGS, International News Service Financial Editor NEW YORK, April 12.—Industrial stocks drifted to slightly lower price levels in a smaller volume of business at the week end. Price movements were decidedly mixed, a few of the high-priced specialties like Allied Chemical advancing briskly, while the utility stocks, the pride of the bull movement this week, dropped back one to four points on profit taking and speculative selling.

The business and financial reviews reported a better balance between supply and demand and declared that industrial improvement was being well maintained. Retail business should have a spurt in the Easter week, according to these expert reviews. Meanwhile confidence in the security markets is growing and demand for good stocks increasing.

The reaction in utility stocks carried Public Service of New Jersey down 3 1/2 to 117 1/2; American Waterworks down 1 1/2 to 120 1/2; Consolidated Gas down 1 1/2 to 130 1/2. Fractional losses were sustained by United Corporation, United Gas Improvement, American and Foreign Power.

In contrast to last Saturday's crowded session, in which 2,500,000 shares changed hands, with the ticker hopelessly out of touch with the market, the volume of trading fell off with the "shading" of prices and the

Can This Niagara Be Harnessed?

ENGINEERS have long since harnessed Niagara Falls and turned the mighty cataract into a friend of man. But what of the traffic Niagara, with its backwash of congestion and accidents? It roars on in unbridled fury and crushed the lives of 31,500 men, women and children last year. Narrow streets built in the horse and buggy era are inadequate for present needs. Traffic engineers are just beginning to scratch the surface of the problem. Can they conquer it?

Has Thirty-Five Gallons Of
Moonshine In His Car
When Arrested

Alfred Wright, Negro of the south side district, was apprehended Friday afternoon by County Detective H. Martin Lee, City Detective C. G. Logan and Officer Thomas Lynch with 35 gallons of moonshine liquor in his car.

He was first under surveillance of the authorities on Shenango street because of his suspicious actions and the officers followed him, overtaking him on South Jefferson street, near the bridge over the Neshannock creek. When taken before Alderman L. C. Mantz, where he was charged with transporting and possessing liquor, by County Detective Lee, he pleaded guilty to the charges and was remanded to the county jail in default of bail, pending the disposition of his case at the June term of court.

STATE TO START OILING OF ROADS

ing Week Of April 14

"I'M A DRY," SAYS MRS. McCORMICK

Declares She Always Has Been,
After Long Visit With Hoover

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Republican candidate for senator from Illinois, said after a conference with President Hoover Friday that she had "always been dry and there is no reason to change."

In addition to emphasizing that she was running for the senate as a dry, Mrs. McCormick said she and President Hoover had "most amicably agreed to disagree" on the question of American adherence to the world court. She opposed adherence vigorously in her campaign against Senator Deneen for the Republican nomination.

She was with the president for about an hour. She said this was the first of many conferences she would have with him during the campaign. She refrained from conferring with the chief executive before the Illinois primary.

The Republican senatorial candidate will return to Illinois for the state convention April 13. The woman candidate's word on prohibition was in response to questions concerning the anti-prohibition stand of her Democratic opponent, former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis.

New Castle Airport Comes To Life; Planes Being Tuned
Up For Summer
Flying

Like thoroughbred race horses, stomping and snorting, raring to go, the shiny, stream lined airplanes at the New Castle airport, have been waiting impatiently, throughout the winter months, hoping for the time when they would be let loose to fly through the clouds.

Friday afternoon was a perfect day for flying and the planes were wheeled out of their bunks, tuned up, engines whirled eagerly, planes went over the ground, bumpety-bump, then up into the air and far away to the clouds.

New Castle citizens who glanced up at the sky, could see several planes up at a time, with only a steady purr of the engines, showing that they were man driven birds.

Aged Sisters Have Many Misfortunes

UNIONTOWN, April 12.—Flames which spread from a grass fire, started to clear a meadow for ploughing purposes, set fire to the barn owned by the Misses Libbie and Hannah Downard, both aged, and destroyed it. The Uniontown department was summoned, but the barn went up in smoke within a short time.

Just a short time ago a cow, on which the aged women depended for part of their livelihood, died. The fire killed a dozen or more chickens.

In conversation avoid the extremes of forwardness and reserve.—Cato.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations
Of Interesting Things
Around New Castle

It's a satisfying thing to put a job over in style, and it is also a satisfying thing to see the other fellow putting over his job in style. The manner in which the Y. M. C. A. drive for members went over is one which all of us can applaud. It wasn't on time, it was ahead of time and results and instead of getting 1000 members in two days the boys went out and signed up nearly fifty additional in less than two days. There wasn't a thing in it for any of them, save the satisfaction of a job well done and whether you're building a fence, or cutting a cameo, the satisfaction of doing it well is something that we all like.

Just now there is another drive or campaign on, and if you own an automobile you owe it to yourself to get in. It is the campaign of the New Castle Motor Club for members and every motor owner who isn't a member of the club isn't giving himself an even break.

There are so many benefits to be derived from membership in the association that it seems like too much for the money. When you are out on the road in strange territory, an A. A. card gets you by where others won't. If you break down on the road, the towing service is worth most of the membership price, and if you have an accident that lays you out, the accident insurance is something that comes in mighty handy.

It is the one organization that has only the interests of the motorist at heart. It cares nothing what your politics or religion are, whether you live in a cottage or a mansion, or whether your forefathers came over on the Mayflower or the White Star line. It is by, for, and of the motorists, organized and functioning for nobody else, doing a real job in a real way, and if you have a car, you owe it to yourself to get in.

This hitch hiking must be a real sport or something. Ran into a couple of the thumb jokers yesterday in the lobby of a hotel. They were just getting ready to go in and eat lunch. Set the one to the other, well that isn't so bad, we ate breakfast in Cleveland and get lunch here, and we'll eat dinner in Pittsburgh.

The hitch hiker isn't a bit snooty. He would just as soon ride in a straight eight brougham as a twin deuce open job. Every motor driver is fair game for him and it is always the open season. Perhaps it may be a romantic way of getting across the country and yet as far as I can see it isn't a great deal different than riding the rods on a train, or mooching a handout at the back doors. But then maybe I'm wrong.

Seems to me that the boys ought to carry the idea farther. Why not stand at the door of a restaurant and as a fellow approaches, give him the thumb as he goes in. Out of a dozen or more eaters, one ought to take them in.

Or at the theatre or the baseball games. There isn't a bit of difference in hitching a hike from Pittsburgh to Cleveland or from Kankakee to Weehawken, than there is in mooching your coffins. And so much more economical than paying for it.

Carrying the idea still farther, why not try it on some of the clothing salesman. It ought to be worth one try anyway.
